Reading:

We have finished introducing all of the letters. Monday we started on letter sounds. We are putting these sounds together to form words. We are also learning that word choice can change the meaning of a sentence.

Our shared reading this week is the poem The Pumpkin Life Cycle

Math

- We practiced writing numbers 0 through 10
- We are also working on showing the numbers on the ten frames.

Writers Workshop/Science

We have been working on telling a story orally and with pictures. I have introduced how we label our pictures. Some of us are writing sentences to tell about our story. The objective for us is to be able to draw a picture that tells and write a sentence that goes with the picture.
