Reading:

This week we are learning about the letter I. I have also been giving the sentence writing part of the Dominie. This gives me information on who is applying the sounds that we have learned.

Math

- We have been working on subtraction.
- I have been administering the second nine weeks' math assessment.

Writers Workshop

We have started our unit on narrative writing. We are at the point in the year where the students should be writing words. Please encourage your child to stretch out words to hear sounds to write.

Science

We have been learning how animals adapt to the weather. We did an experiment to discover how Polar Bears blubber helps keep them warm. This week we are going to do an experiment to learn how penguins' feathers help keep them dry.

Teacher's Reminders

Please remember to review sight words that we put in the front of the book bag. A great way to practice these sight words is to have your child find them in books that you are reading to them. Another great way is practice these sight words is to put them in sentences and have your child write the sentence. Teachers have been notified that children will not be able to bring candy in with their Valentines. Walmart has pencils and other things if you would like to include something with their Valentines.
